

Stephen Mulhern & Jonathan Wilkes to create “game-changing” show for P&O Cruises in new entertainment partnership

October 16, 2017

Entertainer and presenter Stephen Mulhern has teamed up with singer, performer and producer Jonathan Wilkes in a new entertainment partnership with P&O Cruises which will include the creation and production of a stunning new show for the company.

The show will be a 45 minute spectacular new production but the cruise company is keeping specific details under wraps until nearer the time of its launch.

"This is a truly breathtaking show and one which has never before been seen on either land or at sea. Jonathan and I are working with the country's best set designers to create something which will leave the audience mesmerized, amazed and entertained" said Stephen Mulhern.

P&O Cruises SVP Paul Ludlow said "Stephen is one of this country's brightest and most well-loved stars. His radio and TV shows are incredibly popular with our guests so he is the perfect fit for us. In partnership with Jonathan Wilkes, who has already produced a very contemporary show for us, we have a highly talented team to create what we hope will be the first of many game-changing shows for us.

"This show will set the bar for sheer wow factor. It will be far more than just entertainment, as it will be a wholly immersive experience, worthy of a Vegas or London arena stage. It is exciting, wholly innovative and sensational."

Further details of the show and performance schedules will be announced in the spring.
